42. MAP

History and legend mingle when we refer to the origins of the island of Porto Santo. In 1418 during the kingdom of D. João I, the island was discovered by João Gonçalves Zarco and Tristão Vaz Teixeira, who, with only a small fleet, prepared to explore the African coast. Ravaged by a huge storm when all seemed lost, the navigators caught sight of a small island with golden sand that sheltered them from the tempest. It is said that this was how name of the island arose: Porto Santo, or "Holy Harbour".

The first colonisers started to grow some cereals, breed cattle, plant vineyards and also to commercialise the famous dyeing material called "dragon's blood", which was coveted in the European markets of that time. Dragon's Blood was extracted from an endemic plant, already extinct in Porto Santo, known as dragon tree (Dracaena draco).

The discovery of the island of Porto Santo, in the beginning of the 15th century, represented an important landmark in the history of mankind, since it determined the beginning of the great Portuguese Discoveries' epopee, led by Prince Henry, the Navigator.

Vila Baleira

Vila Baleira is the head township where in 1419 Bartolomeu Perestrelo, one of the settlers of this archipelago, founded the first village. Today, this quiet town is concentrated around the Largo do Pelourinho, the main square. The Mother Church and the Christopher Columbus House Museum (Casa Museu Cristóvão Colombo) are two important historical landmarks where you will be able to learn more about the history of the island. To finish your day take a walk at sunset, down to the old quay built in 1935, or if you would prefer, stroll along the seashore in the promenade located west of the quay.

There are many curiosities that make of Porto Santo an island so interesting to know in detail. Discover the history of the island starting from the shreds of history spread a bit around everywhere.

lime mines

In Ilhéu de Baixo, also known as Ilhéu da Cal (or Lime Islet), we find a set of mines rich in limestone, which is an important evidence of the natural and geomorphologic heritage of Porto Santo island.

Its slopes are pierced with grottos, which are nowadays deactivated and several galleries are still open to visitors.

casas de salão (salão houses)

One of the finest examples of the island's traditional architecture are the Salão Houses. Salão is a name that derives from the material used on the roof of these houses: a kind of sandy clay which operates a natural heating and cooling system. The houses are kept cool during the summer, due to the cracks that appear in the salão when the weather is hot; and warm in the winter, as the sandy mix absorbs the rain, thus becoming spongy and impermeable. It is worth paying a visit to some of the centenary old constructions that can still be found in the island.

The picturesque look of Porto Santo is highlighted by the countless rotating windmills made of wood, some of which are still functioning. Being an island exposed to the wind from all directions, and with a relatively low relief, the first windmill was the most grandiose oeuvre built in Porto Santo during the 18th century.

From the 15th to the 18th century, Porto Santo's history has been marked by it's vulnerability to attacks by pirates and corsairs. For four centuries, the long stretch of golden sand, which today is one of Porto Santo's biggest attractions, was the weakest spot of the island. It made it extremely difficult for the people of Porto Santo to protect themselves and their belongings from the pillages that took place.

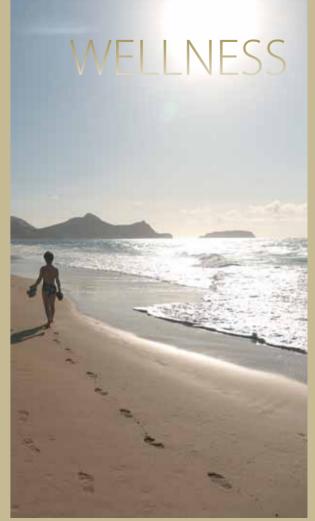

A solution was derived from the Moresque heritage in the form of matamorras or open pits, which were dug underneath the house's floors or in hidden sheltered places. These openings were covered by a square basalt slab sealed with clay mixed with water and used to protect the people's belongings from the greed of the Algerian pirates, who at that time represented the greatest danger for the island.

Columbus at the island of Porto Santo

There was a famous navigator who lived here and who eventually placed the island's name in every history book: Christopher Columbus. It was here that the famous navigator married and lived with Filipa Moniz, the daughter of Bartolomeu Perestrelo, the first donatory captain of the island and here the couple also had a son. Columbus studied and improved some navigation techniques in Porto Santo, already employed by the Portuguese, which became essential elements for his voyages and discoveries.

The white sands, the long shore and the warm and crystalline waters are not Porto Santo's only charming attractions. This holidaymaker's paradise is also coveted for the countless therapeutic properties of its sands and waters, which combine in various forms of treatments. The treatment of orthopedic, rheumatic and physiatric diseases is merely an example of the many healing opportunities of this destination, located only 50 km away from the island of Madeira.

And that's not all. The seawater's richness in iodine, calcium and magnesium is another reason why this island is the ideal place to recover from the body's lack of mineral salts, caused by stress and fatigue.

Porto Santo's therapeutic sand

Unlike most beaches, the sand on Porto Santo is essentially carbonated, formed by sediments of corals, seashells and sea-urchins. With scientifically proven results, these sands relieve rheumatic pains and help recover bone fractures, and are used in the treatments developed by the Geomedicine Centre on the island.

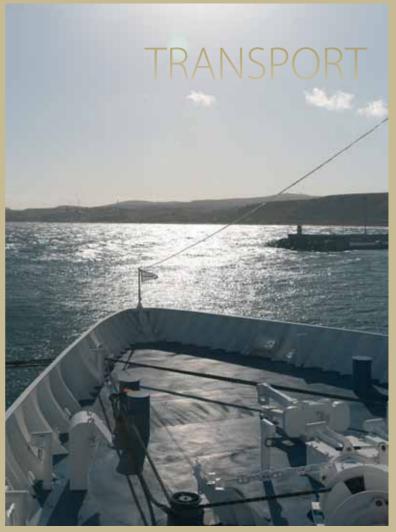

Porto Santo's water

Seawater is used in thalassotherapy treatments, due to its substantially elevated quantities of chromium, strontium and iodine, all benefic elements for your health. Likewise, Porto Santo's spring waters, both bicarbonated and sodic, are also rich in essential components to the well-being of our body.

thalassotherapy

Stress, exhaustion, fatigue, sedentariness, dietary deficiencies, intoxication caused by tobacco, osteoarthritis, digestive disorders and postpartum recovery are some of various treatments offered by the island's centre of Thalassotherapy, which means "cure by the sea" in Greek. Come visit this unique centre in Porto Santo and relax while you take care of yourself and of your health.

by air

The island possesses an international airport with direct connections to Madeira, and the flight is about 15 minutes long. If you're flying from the Portuguese continent, it will take you little more than an hour.

by sea

If you prefer to visit by sea, you can take the modern Lobo Marinho (Monk Seal) ferry-boat, with the capacity for about 1150 passengers. Every day, this ship carries people and vehicles between the island of Madeira and Porto Santo. The voyage lasts approximately two and a half hours.

If you have your own watercraft, you can also dock at Porto Santo's marina, which has the capacity for about 165 boats.

mother church

Located at Largo do Pelourinho (Pillory Square), the mother church, also known as Nossa Senhora da Piedade church, is one of Porto Santo's main monuments. Stricken by countless fires and pillages, in its interior we can find many elements of great artistic beauty, of which Martim Conrado's altar and Max Römer's canvases are the highlights. Visit this temple and feel some of the history of the island.

paços do concelho (town hall)

This fine building, dated back to the 16th century, is unique once serving as a prison.

Christopher Columbus house museum

A token of Christopher Columbus presence in the island, the museum recreates the atmosphere of where the navigator lived before departing in quest of new worlds. The museum is formed by two buildings, the older of which dates back to the time when Columbus lived in the island. In its interior, you will find some portraits of the navigator, painted from the 16th to the 20th century, as well as a set of maps with some of the routes through which he travelled. Visit the museum and discover the island's history.

Ponta da Calheta

Located on the southern end of the island, you'll find in Ponta da Calheta an astonishing view over the beach and over the island. On a clear day, you might even make out the island of Madeira. Take a walk along the beach, starting from the town and ending in this heavenly place.

Fonte da Areia (sand fountain)

Leave Camacha and head west towards the sea, you will find a fountain once considered holy. Nowadays its waters are still believed to have miraculous properties. Although they do not spout as they used to, it is worth visiting the spot, where the wind has performed a magnificent show of erosion.

Miradouro das Flores (Flores belvedere)

On the western end of the island, we find Pico das Flores (Flowers peak), from where we can observe all the island of Porto Santo, the Desertas Islands and the Island of Madeira, a little further southwest. Sítio dos Morenos, near the belvedere, is the ideal place for a small get-together or a picnic.

Miradouro da Portela (Portela belvedere)

Located 1,5 Km away from Vila Baleira is Miradouro da Portela. Climb up to the belvedere and ravish with the astonishing view of the Island of Porto Santo. Take a walk along the beautiful palmtree avenue and pay a visit to Nossa Senhora da Graça chapel, dated back to 1851.

Pico do Castelo (castle peak)

On this 437 metres high volcano, the ruins of a small fortress dating back to the 16th century can be found. It was one of the spots where the island's inhabitants took refuge during the attacks from the Algerian and French pirates. Come and marvel with the view from this charming belvedere.

Padrão das Descobertas

Located at Alameda do Infante, this monument was edified on August 28, 1960, by the sculptor António Aragão. The work, also known as Pau de Sabão ("soap stick") shows artistic features characteristic of Prince Henry, the Navigator's time.

Cardina museum

In Camacha you will find Cardina museum, an ethnographic exhibition that displays the every day life of Porto Santo's inhabitants. This project, signed by José Cardina and opened in 2006, has an octagonal shape and was built in an original sized windmill. Here we find a vast estate that depicts the domestic affairs, agriculture, windmills, fishing, among many other details of the population's life at Porto Santo, ever since the beginning of the island's peopling.

VISITS BY BOOKINGS

Address: Estrada Domingos de Ornelas, Sítio da Camacha 9400-010 Porto Santo Mobile: (+351) 963 252 021

Pico Ana Ferreira (Ana Ferreira peak)

Climbing this peak gives you an opportunity to observe, from Pedreira belvedere, the Ilhéu de Fora (Fora Islet) as well as Facho and Castle peaks. Known as piano, this stone quarry is formed by prismatic columns of extremely irregular shapes.

Pico do Facho (Facho peak)

At 517 metres above sea level, this historical place is the highest spot of the island and where in the distant past, torches were lightened to announce the arrival of enemy boats. Pico do Facho is the starting point of picturesque lanes that unravel Serra de Fora and Vale de Serra de Dentro, offering every visitor excellent views.

WHERE TO GO

Ponta da Canaveira

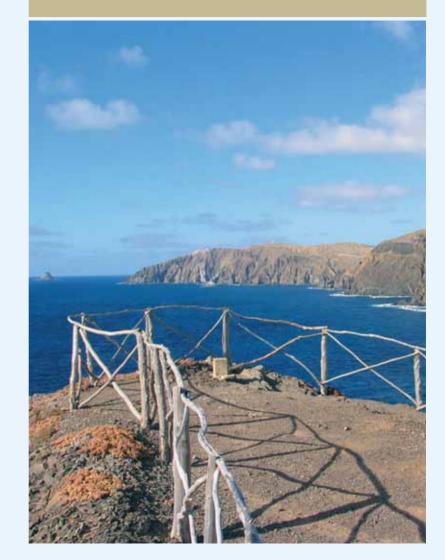

Admire the magnificent view over Madeira, especially of Santana, from Ponta da Canaveira belvedere, located over the rocky coast of the island's western end.

Morenos

North to Cabeço das Flores you will find Morenos, a perfect place for picnics. Pinewood, olive trees and dragon trees will provide you with the ideal shade.

Quinta das Palmeiras

The mini-zoo and botanical garden at Linhares is located in the central western part of the island and is home to a vast number of birds and plants. It covers an area of 5,380 square metres.

beach

Close your eyes and imagine yourself in a 9 km long beach of golden sands. Underneath your feet - the therapeutic pleasure of the delicate and warm sand; in front of you - the azure blue waters promise you unforgettable swims. This is the ideal scenery for some memorable holidays, in a golden island where health and well-being match in perfect harmony.

Porto Santo Golfe, designed by world champion Severiano Ballesteros, combines sports activities and the contact with nature in a unique way and is divided in two game areas with different characteristics. In the first, southwards, we find lakes amongst the course, therefore demanding a longer and more precise game and in the second, northwards, the game is carried out on the top of the cliffs.

The 18 holes are spread along a course of 6434 metres, crossing the island from the dunes up to the basalt cliffs. Whether you're a professional or not, these camps will offer you a challenging game.

Perfectly integrated in the landscape, you will also find a modern club house with a sauna and a Jacuzzi for you to relax after a match, as well as a golf store where you can purchase everything you might need for the game. If you would rather just rest or enjoy the sights, you may choose to go to the restaurant or to the bar, where you'll find a spectacular view over the island and the ocean.

Sheltered by the winds and protected by the islets, the clear and quiet Porto Santo's sea invite us to dive in the lukewarm water and spend hours exploring the vastness of the Atlantic Ocean. The temperature of the water, around 22°C in the summer and 17°C in the winter, and the crystal clear sea, offer excellent diving and snorkeling conditions.

Near the harbour (Porto de Abrigo) is one of divers favorite spots: the Madeirense ship, a boat sunk on purpose that became a reef appreciated worldwide.

sailing, boat rides, canoeing and rowing

Get the most out of the endless possibilities Porto Santo has to offer. From sailing to rowing, free yourself from the stress of everyday life and surrender to a sea of warm and clear waters. If you would prefer, you can also set to discover the island in a relaxing boat ride.

jet ski, windsurf and kite surf

Vibrate with the emotion of a jet-ski, windsurf or kite surf while you savor the marine breeze and the intense indigo blue of a sea full of mysteries to unravel.

hippic centre

The open spaces make of Porto Santo the perfect place to horse-riding. If you are a novice equestrian, try your hand at the sport and take some riding classes. Who knows, you might discover your new passion!

tennis

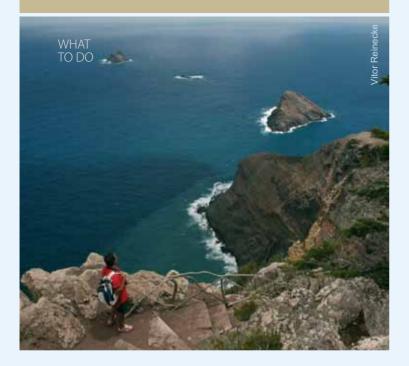

On Porto Santo you can find the best complex of tennis courts in the country. Located in Sítio do Campo de Baixo, in an area contiguous to the golf course, this precinct is prepared to welcome high competition tournaments. It is formed by one main stadium with benches for approximately 1000 spectators, plus other five secondary fields and two paddle courts.

beach sports

The Beach Sports Stadium, due to its polyvalent structure, is ideal to the practice of several sports, namely beach soccer or volleyball. Therefore, it has become an asset to these kind of summer activities.

hangglider - paragliding

Relish the landscapes and contrasts, ranging from gold to the deep blue hue which can only be found on the island of Porto Santo. Feel the adrenalin while you get the most out of this Eden of peace and quiet, enjoying an experience that will appeal to all your senses.

bike rides and motorcycling

Join the golden island's inhabitants in their favorite activity: bike rides. Pick one of the many tracks, in dirt or asphalt roads, and put your cycling abilities to the test.

walking tours

Let yourself be inspired by the island's serenity, while you take a walk surrounded by majestic landscapes. Inhale the fresh air of the mountain or stroll around the lanes, feeling like the character of a live painting.

jeep safari

Get to know the island behind the wheel of a 4x4. Surpass natural obstacles and get to almost unreachable places. Adventure yourself and discover unique landscapes that will stay forever in your memory.

karts

Simulating a Formula One track, though with a smaller area (860 metres long and 8 metres wide), Porto Santo's kartodrome combines sports with fun. Speed up!

WHAT TO DO

festivities

DIA DE REIS (KINGS' DAY) | January 6th

Dia de Reis is celebrated on the eve and the dawn of January 6th, when several groups parade from door to door playing traditional Madeiran instruments

SANTO AMARO | January 15th

The first Madeiran religious feast of the year also marks the end of Christmas celebrations. This event, in honor of Saint Amaro, is extremely popular in Porto Santo, gathering local people and visitors.

SÃO JOÃO (ISLAND'S PATRON SAINT) | June 20th to June 24th A bit everywhere, can be seen the celebrations of the day of São João, the island's patron saint. However, the epicentre of all this popular festivity lies at Vila Baleira. Enjoy the popular parades, with different groups representing different parts of the island, be prepared to jump over the bonfire, or delight yourself with the local cuisine in the many food and drink stalls spread throughout the town.

NOSSA SENHORA DA GRAÇA AND NOSSA SENHORA DA PIEDADE

August 15th and the last weekend in August

August is the month when most of these religious festivities take place. The mass and the procession, during the day, give way to the traditional fair, at night, with balls and musical performances all night long.

HARVEST

At the end of August, get acquainted with the variety of vines produced in the island in a festival dedicated to grapes and wine. Closely watch the process of wine production, with public exhibition in a wine press, as well as several wine tastings.

COLUMBUS FESTIVAL

In the beginning of September, theatre, music, parades and exhibitions are only some of the activities that will brighten up Vila Baleira, in a celebration whose highlight is the recreation of Christopher Columbus' arrival and way of living in the island of Porto Santo.

Areal Dourado - Eventos, EEM

"Areal Dourado" is a Porto Santo's municipal company that promotes touristic animation and cultural, recreational and sportive initiatives, as well as cultural and social events, never forgetting the most ancient Porto Santo's traditions.
